

LODGE OUTLINES OPPOSITION TO PRESIDENT'S PROGRAM

Republican Leader in Senate Names Five of Wilson's Fourteen Points Which He Says Should Not Be Dealt With in Peace Treaty and Hints at Senate Refusal to Ratify if League of Nations is Embodied.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.	The German colonies, Lodge said, should never be returned.
Washington, Dec. 21.—The task of the peace conference is to make peace with Germany. All other problems, "having to deal with issues that at this time are vague or unknown," should go over for future discussion.	"We cannot shirk the Russian question," he asserted. "The restoration of Russia is essential not only to the peace but to the economic life of the world. We have troops now in the northern part of western Russia and at Vladivostok. Unfortunately they are so few in number that it is greatly to be feared they are wholly inadequate for the work they have to do. Nevertheless, they are there and must be sustained and very Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts, who will be majority leader when the peace treaty is before the senate for ratification, laid down this doctrine today.

Senator Lodge singled out five of the president's fourteen peace points which, he said, should be considered by the peace conference and should not be dealt with in the treaty. They are:

- 1—The president's first point relating to secret diplomacy.
- 2—The second point, dealing with the freedom of the seas.
- 3—The third point referring to the removal of economic barriers.
- 4—The fourth point, declaring for a reduction of armaments.
- 5—The last point, for the creation of a league of nations.

probably increased."

Lodge added that if the problem can be solved, the president's peace points will be turned to those of President Wilson's peace points which he believed could better be considered at a later time. Lodge asserted that there always will be need for secrecy in delicate diplomatic negotiations. He asserted that the language of the president's "freedom of the seas" never has been defined and that if it means the abolition of the right of blockade, the United States as well as Great Britain must have serious objection to it.

Lodge recalled to the senate that Secretary Daniels had headed the house naval affairs committee a naval program that in 1925 will give the United States a navy equal to that of Great Britain.

He always had favored a strong navy, he said, but the new program went far beyond anything he ever contemplated.

As to reduction of armaments

The definite suggestion that the peace treaty might be rejected, or at least greatly altered, if it came to the senate carrying provisions for making the United States a member of the league of nations, was contained in the concluding words of Senator Lodge's address:

"The American people desire an prompt action on peace with Germany as consistent with safety," he said. "The object is to reach the provisions for an effective league of nations to the treaty of peace now making with Germany would be to launch the nations who have been fighting Germany on a sea of boundless discussion. It would cause wide differences of opinion and would bring long delays. If the attempt was successful and a league of nations, with the powers about which I have ventured to inquire vested in it, were to come here before the senate, it might endanger the peace treaty and cause amendments. It would certainly lead to very long delays."

Senator Lodge thus placed himself and his followers in the senate on record in distinct opposition to President Wilson.

NURSE SENDS SYMPATHY
And Lock of Private Cragan's Hair to His Mother Here.
Mrs. William Cragan of Chapel street has received a letter of sympathy from the chief nurse of the hospital in which her son, Private Bernard T. Cragan, died about November 1st, and containing also a lock of his hair. The letter follows:
No. 9 General Hospital, Lakeside, U. S. A.
B. E. F., France.
Mrs. William Cragan,
8 Chapel St., Kingston, N. Y., U. S. A.
My Dear Mrs. Cragan:
I am sorry, indeed, to have to write to you that your son, Private Bernard T. Cragan, No. 1212187, Co. M, 107th Infantry, passed away at 4:44 p. m. on November 1st. He left no messages. I had seen him several times in the ward since I wrote to you, but he was so sick I didn't talk with him. He was seen by the Catholic priest, who visits all of the Catholic patients in our hospital. The funeral services will be held tomorrow, November 1th, at 2 p. m. He will be buried with full military honors with an escort of British soldiers. The American soldiers are always carried to the grave with a large American flag covering the coffin.
A Catholic priest will have charge of the funeral service. He will be buried in the part of the military cemetery which is reserved for American soldiers. A cross with his name and number on it will be erected over his grave.
I am enclosing a lock of his hair for you.
Will you accept my own sympathy to you in your sorrow, and believe me very sincerely,
E. M. FOLCKMER,
Chief Nurse.

TO VISIT POULTRY MARKET.
Chicken Men Planning Trip to New York Market Early in January.
The poultrymen's third annual trip to the New York market will be taken on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, January 2, 3, 4, 1919. Many of the establishments which receive eggs and poultry direct from farms will be visited. Besides the information which will be furnished by the director of the trip, the market men themselves will explain their business.
According to the plans of the New York state college of agriculture, which arranges this trip, Thursday and Friday will be spent in the markets and Saturday will be given over to private conferences with market men, or inspections of special features of the market which any may wish to make. The director of the trip will be available all day and will assist the poultrymen in making business appointments.
Both men and women go on these trips, and pay their own expenses. No fee is required. Special hotel rates are obtained for those who wish them. It is suggested that poultry associations or other community organizations send representatives and encourage as many individuals as possible to attend.
Applications should be sent to the poultry department, New York state college of agriculture, Ithaca, N. Y., as soon as possible. Further details will then be furnished.

ALL SPEAK OF HOME.
Joseph Mooney, in Tractor Service, Writes From France.
Mrs. P. Mooney of East Chester street has received the following letter from her son, Private Joseph Mooney:
Somewhere in France, Nov. 22, 1918.
Dear Mother:
Will write you a few lines to let you know I am feeling fine and hope every one at home is the same. I am writing this letter after eating Thanksgiving dinner, and it certainly was good. We had turkey and dressing, mashed potatoes, celery, and pie. It was good. I only hope Mary has had as good. Let me know when you heard from him last. I am about twelve miles from the city of Bordeaux. I have been there on leave. It is quite a large city. When I came over I landed in Brest. That is in the northern part of France. I came over on the Siboney, which is a new ship. It has only been built since May. There was nearly four thousand soldiers on it. I have been working on tractors and caterpillars. From the looks of things I don't think it will be long before I am home, and believe me I won't be sorry. I haven't received any mail as yet.
Your loving son,
JOE.

WHY WE MUST KEEP ON SAVING FOOD

Excerpts from Herbert Hoover's message read in the churches which show necessity for continued and increased conservation until after next harvest.

The ending of the war does not release us from the pledge. The same populations must be fed, and until another season has passed they cannot feed themselves.

Upwards of 200 million people, in addition to those we are already pledged to serve, are now looking to us in their misery and famine.

The new appeal is to the "world conscience," which must be the guiding inspiration of our future program.

America by her participation in the war * * * has established the foundations of government by the people throughout the enemy countries, and this is the real bulwark of world peace. We have yet to build on these foundations.

No government nor nation can stand if its people are starving. We must do our part if the world be not consumed in a flame of anarchy.

The American people, in this most critical period of their history, have the opportunity to demonstrate not only their ability to assist in establishing peace on earth, but also their consecration, by self denial, to the cause of suffering humanity.

Your Duty and Mine

There should be no relaxation in the conservation measures practiced during the war if America is to make good her pledge to ship 20,000,000 tons of food to hungry Europe.

With the return of Herbert Hoover from Europe new programs of food economy will be outlined, and every American housewife is expected to enlist in the campaign.

Keep on saving food. Now that the war is over there is a tendency on the part of many people to relax the conservation of food they have been practicing for the past two years. This tendency, perhaps, has been increased by the removal of restrictions on the use of sugar and wheat. The mere fact that the restrictions have been removed from sugar, and that the use of wheat flour without substitutes is now permitted should not, however, be made an excuse for general relaxation of all food conservation measures.

The reason restrictions on the use of sugar were removed was because there is a sufficient supply in this country to permit its use without restriction until the new Cuban crop comes in. The outlook for the new Cuban crop is most promising. In addition to this large supplies of sugar in India, Java and Madras, which accumulated during the war, have been made available by the reopening of shipping.

The same is substantially true of the wheat situation. The stock in this country is sufficiently large, if we are economical, to take care of our needs on a pre-war basis, and at the same time enable us to ship large supplies to Europe. There is also now available for use in Europe large supplies accumulated during the war in Australia, India, Argentina and other countries.

Must Save Meats and Fats. While the world's sugar and wheat situation is in such condition as to permit for the present generous use of both of these important foodstuffs, the situation in regard to meats and fats and dairy products is such as to necessitate the most intensive saving in order that America may make good her pledge to ship 20,000,000 tons of foodstuffs to Europe during the coming months. Meats and fats and dairy products are the most vital needs of the small nations in Europe which have been starved under German rule, and to supply their needs will prove a big undertaking.

With the return from Europe of Herbert Hoover, U. S. Food Administrator, we may expect a comprehensive program of intensive food saving which will enlist the cooperation of every household in America. Until this program is made public, it is of the utmost importance that there should be no relaxation in the conservation which the American housewife practiced during the war. So successful was the response of the American public to the request of the Food Administration for the saving of food that it is hoped that America will be able to make good her pledge of 20,000,000 tons.

000,000 tons of food for Europe by voluntary saving, without a revival of "meatless" or "wheatless" days or the institution of special restrictions on the use of any particular food.

Until Mr. Hoover outlines the new program of food saving, every American housewife should keep in force the same general principles of food saving which followed America's entry into the world struggle. Here are some general rules which it will be well for the American housewife to keep in mind until Mr. Hoover outlines the new food saving program:

Keep These Suggestions in Mind. Live simply. This means cutting out all unnecessary meals such as afternoon teas and theater suppers. Serve meals of a few simple courses, eliminating elaborate dishes, which waste food.

Waste nothing. Make every ounce of food yield its full equivalent of nourishment. Utilize all "left-over" food. Make the garbage pail unnecessary.

Save in the use of meats and fats, particularly pork products. Use no more than you need of any food. Eating lightly and simply means better digestion, and better digestion means a longer and healthier life. War has depleted the herds of cattle in Europe, and the quickest way in which they can be restored to pre-war size is for Americans to increase their exports of meats and fats.

Practice the doctrine of a clean plate. Serve no more than is necessary for a satisfying portion, and eat everything that is served.

Be saving in the use of condensed milk, butter and cheese. Condensed milk is badly needed in many of the European countries where the dairy herds have been depleted by the war, and the United States must make large shipments of condensed milk and butter in order to meet the demands of these countries.

Remember, "food will win the world," and by saving food help to save the world.

OUR LETTER BOX

Reply to food questions from readers of the Freeman answered by experts of the U. S. Food Administration. Address inquiries to: Bureau, Federal Food Board, 4 West 5th Street, New York City.

A. K. F. (America)—You can use as much sugar as necessary but to economize, put up during the summer. One reason the world is in such a state of famine is because the world has been so long without sugar is to permit this.

A. J. (Critic)—The corn average of the United States was 104,525,000 in 1914 and 112,525,000 in 1918.

A. F. (A. F.)—When you see a fisherman speck of salmon they do not always mean the same thing. On board a man-of-war a fisherman means six feet, on board a merchantman five and a half feet, and on board a fishing vessel five feet.

Strength of Character. Strength of character is not mere strength of feeling; it is the resolute resistance of strong feeling. It is the yielding resistance to whatever would disquiet us from without or unsettle us from within.—J. W. D.

Beginning Tower of London. A royal palace, consisting of what is known as the "white tower," appears to have been the beginning of the Tower of London. It was commenced by William the Conqueror, who, in 1066, surrounded it with walls and a broad ditch. Several succeeding kings made additions to it, and King Edward III erected the church. In 1666 the old white tower was rebuilt, and in the reign of Charles II a great number of additions were made to it. The new buildings in the tower were completed in 1806.

ELLENVILLE.
Ellenville, Dec. 20.—The December meeting of the local W. C. T. U. was held in Hunt Memorial Hall Wednesday afternoon, December 18. "Crusade Day" was celebrated. The program was arranged by Mrs. Addison Stratton, superintendent of press department, who also presided at the meeting and the very excellent program as arranged to celebrate the 45th anniversary of the organization of the W. C. T. U. was given and enjoyed by the large number of members and several guests who were in attendance. The meeting opened by singing the Crusade hymn, Mrs. E.
E. Count at the piano. Crusade Psalm (146) and prayer by the president, Mrs. M. A. Smiley, followed.
Three beautiful songs, "Victory Bells,"
"The Triumph Song" and "The Close Rolls Is In" were sung and at the close the members and guests returned to the lobby of Hunt Memorial Hall where the remainder of the program was given. While all were seated so as to enjoy the meeting best, as they looked upon the face of the donor of this beautiful building, the late John R. Hunt, while looking down from the mantel above, the handsome first place were the pictures in one frame of two of the local union's loved presidents, the late Mrs. John R. Hunt and Mrs. James Donaldson, also a picture on the wall of the late long loved leader, Francis Williams. Also pictures of the local union crusaders are to be framed in a group picture later. Poem, "The Flight of Years," was read by Mrs. Count. "The Beginning" Dec. 15, 1873, at Fredonia, N. Y., Mrs. Smiley, Mrs. E. E. Count,
Mrs. Allen Butler, "First State
President," Mrs. V. T. Wright, Mrs.
Maria Hyde Hubbard, "Second State President," Mrs. R. T. Cookingham, "Organization," Mrs. Stratton, "Local Organization," Mrs. S. F. Joffe, "The pledge and badge," Mrs. Count,
"Songs and State Flower," Mrs. Frank J. Dwyer, "Crusade Glory Song" read in closing by Mrs. Cookingham.
Among those present at the meeting was a loved and honored member of the last remaining charter member residing in Ellenville, Mrs. C. T.
Hawthurst, others of the charter members are Mrs. D. E. Hoorbeck of Washington, D. C., and Miss Mattie L.
Hansen, local organizer and first president now residing at Tokio, Japan.
The Clysie Spring Water Co. started up work at its bottling plant Tuesday with a force of thirty hands. It is expected that it will run steadily in the future and with increased working force, which is good news to the village people who are interested to have Sun Day plant to keep up its former good name, having started some years ago under very bright conditions, although at the present time it is under entirely new management.

The Last Word.
The sweet young thing thought she was making a huge success. "There's only one thing I can't understand," he started to say. "Only one?" she asked, without letting him finish. "There was one. Now there are two. The second is why some girls never learn that it is only the pretty ones who can afford to be imprudent."

WANT TO ATTEND NIGHT SCHOOL?

If So Write Sup't Michael. Who Is Organizing One—192 Boys. Have Said They Would Attend.

The registration of boys in the city of Kingston of the ages of 16, 17 and 18 years for military training revealed that 192 boys said they would attend night school if one were established. Letters have been addressed to all the registrants requesting them to write to Superintendent Michael pledging prompt and regular attendance at night school if such school is organized and also to state what studies they wish to pursue.

The Educational Law of 1918, chapter 469, section 211, provides as follows: "Night schools wherein the common branches and such additional subjects as may be adapted to students applying for instruction are taught on three nights each week for two hours, each shall be maintained by the board of education in each city of the third class on at least eighty nights."

The teachers committee of the board of education acting with the superintendent of schools, thought that there might be other young people in the city not attending schools, both men and women, who would like to avail themselves of opportunities offered by night school if one were started. It will be a great help in organizing the work to know in advance about how many students will attend and what studies they wish to take up, therefore any one who wishes to avail himself of night school work under the law will please write to Superintendent M. J. Michael, High School, Kingston, N. Y., stating definitely what subjects he or she may wish to study.

A Christmas Surprise.

Last night beside the window, I sat all alone,
All day the snow had fallen,
But brought the broad moon shone,
My thoughts went straying back
To this time ago last year,
I told him good-bye bravely,
I forced my lips to words of cheer,
But my heart was sore that night
And for many nights to come,
His mother's heart's so lonely,
Would, would that he were home.

It has two days to Christmas—
Glad day of joy,
I'm home as dull and empty
I'm longing for my boy,
Oh, but one year ago
In the soldier suit of brown,
He hugged me and he kissed me,
Then his train drew out from town,
When the black smoke faded dim
And the last car shrank from sight,
Then oh, how I was lonely,
That night and yet tonight.

That shadow on the snow-line,
Out there—beside the tree
That forms along the pathway—
Why—is it—can it be?
I open wide the door
In the moonlight wintry air
Two strong arms hold me tightly,
And clasp me like a bear,
There's a kiss upon my lips
And a voice within my ear,
"Oh, mother, we'll have Xmas Together, dear, this year."

EAST KINGSTON SOLDIER INSANE?

Private James Muscolino was brought to police headquarters under guard by Private John J. Gardner from Camp Dix Friday evening. Muscolino, who had been honorably discharged from the army, has been under observation to ascertain whether or not he was insane. Private Gardner had received orders to turn him over to Chief of Police J. Allan Wood.

Sergeant Hanley took the matter up with Acting Health Officer Henry Van Hovenberg, who made arrangements to have Muscolino and Private Gardner spend the night at the Kingston City Hospital. Today arrangements were made to turn the matter over to the authorities of the town of Ulster.

Filters Don't Stop Influenza.

Recent researches conducted by MM. Nicolle and Lebailly of the Pasteur Institute of Tunis have proven that the microbe of influenza is what is known as a "filter passer"—that is, it is so small as to pass through any filter, no matter how minute the interstices may be.
